City Wants Your Feedback Next RebuildIndy Public Open House Tomorrow

INDIANAPOLIS -- You've seen the signs, driven through the construction zones and probably reaped the benefits of newly paved streets! Now come learn more about Mayor Ballard's RebuildIndy initiative. During two public open houses hosted by the Department of Public Works (DPW), you'll have a chance to view detailed maps that highlight where RebuildIndy work is currently taking place and where future projects are planned. Do you want to know when work is going to start in your neighborhood or when it's going to end? Now is your chance to get the answers from DPW engineers, in person. You can even report a pothole! Join us for evenings of questions, answers and suggestions.
